ALEXANDER CONVICTED

Paris Banker Convicted and Sentenced to Penitentiary at Special Term.

SAYS "NOT MOR-ALLY GUILTY."

Now Occupying A Cell In The Bourbon County Jail.

Crushed and humiliated in spirit, but still defiant and proclaiming his innocence, Geo. Alexander, the President and wrecker of the bank which bears his name, is to-day behind the bars of the Bourbon county jail, a convicted felon. It was generally believed by the public that something in the nature of a surprise would be sprung in the case when Mr. Alexander appeared yesterday morning to plead to the eleven indictments upon which the prosecution had elected to try him. Consequently the court room was crowded when both prosecution and defense announced they were ready for trial.

Just four minutes were consumed in obtaining a jury, and after Prosecuting Attorney Victor Bradley had read seven of the indictments to the jury he announced that the defense wished to enter a plea of guilty to each, which had been accepted by the prosecution.

The first of the seven indictments charged Mr. Alexander with unlawfully and feloniously altering and erasing a book owned by the bank by erasing an item of $12,000 from the debit side of his account and placing it to his credit. The other six indictments charged him with placing dead notes in each instance and placing them among the assets of the bank, placing the amount of each note to his individual credit. To all of these Mr. Alexander entered a plea of guilty, after a general demur to each indictment had been overruled by the court, who also overruled a motion for arrest of judgment in each case. Upon peremptory instructions from the Court the jury rendered a verdict of guilty in each of the seven cases.

In pronouncing sentence the Court said:

"George Alexander, you were indicted by the Grand Jury of the Bourbon Circuit Court, at the June term, 1914, charged with unlawfully and feloniously altering and erasing a book owned by a bank with the intention of cheating and defrauding said bank. To this charge you entered a plea of 'not guilty,' and afterwards withdrew that plea and entered a plea of 'guilty,' whereupon came a jury and found you guilty of the indictment.

"Have you any legal cause or excuse to offer or to show why sentence should not be pronounced against you?"

Mr. Alexander replied: "Your Honor, in the opinion of the Court, I may have been guilty, but I have never believed I was morally guilty. I believed I was good for all I did."

"The excuse you offer going into the morals of the crime is not a legal one. The crime is illegally committed, and the explanation and excuse you offer is not a legal one, although it may be, and undoubtedly is, one which would acquit you in the forum of your opinion and that is a great satisfaction. I have no doubt, the greatest satisfaction you have under these circumstances. It is my duty under the law to sentence you for an indeterminate period of not less than two nor more than ten years in the penitentiary, under indictment number 527."

"The other six indictments being numbers 516, 519, 521, 526 and 498, charge you with embezzlement. Have you any legal cause or excuse to show why judgment of the court should not be pronounced against you under these indictments?"

"Nothing more than I have already said," replied Mr. Alexander.

"Then it is the order of the Court that you be taken to the penitentiary and there confined for an indeterminate period of not less than one year and not more than ten years. Each term to begin at the expiration of the former term."

The prisoner was then placed in the custody of Jailer Jos. Farris. In company with his wife, daughters and relatives, they entered a waiting automobile and were driven to the jail. Mr. Alexander will occupy a cell in the upper portion of the jail, which he will have comfortably furnished, and his meals will be sent to him by relatives.

The case will be taken on appeal to the Court of Appeals by Mr. Alexander's attorneys.

TOBACCO SALES.

The Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Company sold Saturday 218,025 pounds of tobacco for $18,521.06, an average of $84.88.

The market was the best of the season, both as to size of offerings and prices. The ring of bids, well up in the teens, was a reminder of other days. A small per cent of better tobacco is now coming in, but many farmers are marketing low grades exclusively, which makes the total offerings contain a large per cent of poor tobacco.

Herbert Sledd sold Saturday his first crop, it being a measured acre. The yield was 1,940 pounds, which brought $284, an average of $14.64.

The highest priced basket of the sale was from the crop of Caywood & Fletcher, bringing $27.50, the American being the buyer, and the crop averaging $13.46.

A record price for flyings was reached by George W. Wyatt, Jr., selling a basket at $16.75. Some crop averages follow:

Herbert Sledd, 1,940 pounds for $284, average $14.64; Snapp & Snapp, 995 pounds for $142.70, average $14.34; Caywood & Fletcher, 5,507 pounds for $750.07, average $13.46; Wyatt & Talbott, 1,700 pounds for $234.37, average $12.29; Ardery & Brooks, 3,570 pounds for $419.09, average $11.73; Young & Brooks, 2,360 pounds for $265.21, average $11.25; Meteer & Ginn, 4,283 pounds for $481.95, average $11.20; J. W. Thomas, 5,560 pounds for $624.83, average $11.24; Plummer & McClure, 6,820 pounds for $764.52, average $11.21; Hutchcraft & Linville, 7,920 pounds for $950.36, average $11.99; Clark & McClain, 4,990 pounds for $501.26, average $10.20.

BIG PURCHASE OF CATTLE.

Over four thousand fat cattle, destined for the Christmas export trade, have been purchased in this and adjoining counties this season by Mr. Henry S. Caywood, of the firm of Caywood & McClintock, of Paris. The cash value of the cattle is in excess of $500,000.

The cattle, which were purchased for the account of Swift & Co., the meat packers, weighed from 1,250 to 1,400 pounds, were shipped to the market in New York. They cost from $7.25 to $8.50 per hundred pounds.

Of the above amount 2,000 cattle were bought in Madison county, for which he paid upwards of $250,000. Mr. Caywood was in Richmond recently, from where he shipped four car loads of cattle to New York, for which he paid from $7.25 to $8 per hundred pounds.

Among Mr. Caywood's purchases in Bourbon were: 41 head from Mr. W. B. Woodford, at $8.25 per hundred; 50 head from Mr. Catesby Woodford, Jr., at $9 per hundred and $1 per head extra; 20 head from Mr. Arthur Hancock, at $8 per hundred and $1 per head extra.

SAFE ROBBED OF $200.

When Thos. F. Brannon left his place of business at midnight Saturday he forgot to lock his safe, being under the impression that it would hardly be worth any thief's time to go through it. Mr. Brannon also forgot that the safe held $205 in money besides a lot of checks. When he returned on Monday morning to open the safe he discovered that some one had effected an entrance by breaking out the glass in a rear window, and had appropriated the $200, leaving the checks and a $5 bill for a nest egg with which to start the wheels of commerce in action Monday morning. None of the stock was missing, as the thieves seemed intent only upon securing the cash.

The same parties broke into the tin shop of Mr. Dan Lenihan adjoining the Brannon place, and built up a fire in the stove, evidently spending the night there. Nothing was taken from the store.

PROMINENT RAILROAD MAN DIES OF A HEMORRHAGE

Eugene Zimmerman, former President of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway, and wealthy financier, died suddenly at his club in Cincinnati, late Sunday, from hemorrhage of the lungs. Mr. Zimmerman was the father of the Duchess of Manchester.

Mr. Zimmerman was active in bringing about the union of the two roads and prominent in the sale of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, which for the second time is in the hands of a receiver. After the war he engaged in railroad construction work and became leading contracting engineer. The large Chesapeake & Ohio bridge over the Ohio River at Cincinnati was designed by him and built under his supervision.

His only child, Helena, married the Duke of Manchester in 1900, after which Mr. Zimmerman spent much of his time in Europe.

WILL REMAIN IN PARIS.

The report that Mr. Ed. Slattery, of the Slattery Cafe, in this city, would remove to Lexington and become interested in the Mecca Cafe in that city, was mere rumor, and has been flatly contradicted by Mr. Slattery, who says he will most assuredly remain in Paris.

The Mecca, with a cafe and hotel combined, was purchased by Mr. Wyatt A. Thompson, of Paris, who bought it as an investment, and not as agent, as was reported. Mr. Thompson will remodel all the rooms on the second floor, and will make some material alterations in the cafe and short lunch counter, which has always been a popular feature of The Mecca.

Mr. Thompson will move with his family to Lexington. Mr. Joseph Wells will continue in his position under Mr. Thompson.

BANDIT AND POLICEMAN VICTIMS OF TRAGEDY.

BANDIT ROBS BANK.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 13.—The police to-day are searching for the $13,100 obtained by Frank G. Hohl, automobile bandit, from the two banks he held up and robbed Thursday before he was mortally shot in a pistol duel with three police officers.

Patrolman Edward Knaul, the policeman shot by Hohl, was operated on early to-day, but the attending physicians held out very little hope for his recovery.

Hohl's body still lies unclaimed at the city hospital. His wife, Mrs. Bertha Hohl, who was arrested last night, declared she would not claim the body. She denied knowing anything about the robberies, saying she even was ignorant of the fact that Hohl had been in the city.

Mrs. Hohl said her husband left her more than a year ago because she would not take an active part in his career of crime.

The life of Hohl, who was a notorious automobile bandit, ended Thursday following a three hours' career, which included the robbing of two Cincinnati banks, the theft of an automobile, and pistol duel with policemen, which ended with the almost certainly fatal wounds to one officer and the death of the bandit.

Thirteen thousand and one hundred dollars are missing as the result of the bank robberies and the police are confident that Hohl in his wild auto drive managed to pass this money along to some confederate.

POLICEMAN DIES.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 18.—3 p. m.— Patrolman Edward Knaul, who was shot by Frank G. Hohl, the automobile bandit, while trying to arrest the latter yesterday after two banks had been robbed, died at the hospital to-day from pistol wounds received in the duel with Hohl. Knaul was shot four times. The police were busy to-day searching for another woman whom they believe was the bandit's confederate and to whom they think he managed to give the $13,000 that he obtained from the two banks.

WAR AS A BUSINESS

Impressions of Visitor to German Great Headquarters.

Campaign Conducted With the Efficiency of a Great American Corporation—New Steel Hospital Trains Perfectly Appointed.

London.—A newspaper correspondent writing from Luxembourg says:

I have just returned from the German great headquarters in France, the visit terminating abruptly on the fourth day, when one of the kaiser's secret field police woke me up at seven o'clock in the morning and regrettably said that his instructions were to see that I did not oversleep the first train out. The return journey along one of the German main lines of communication—through Eastern France, across a corner of Belgium, and through Luxembourg—was full of interest, and confirmed the impression gathered at the center of things, the great headquarters, that this twentieth century warfare is in the last analysis a gigantic business proposition which the board of directors (the great general staff) and the 36 department heads are conducting with the efficiency of a great American business corporation.

The west-bound track is a continuous procession of freight trains—fresh consignments of raw material, men and ammunition, being rushed to the firing line to be ground out into victories.

Our fast train stops at the mouth of a tunnel, then crawls ahead charily, for the French, before retreating, dynamited the tunnel. One track has been cleared, but the going is still bad. To keep it from being blocked again by falling debris, the Germans have dug clean through the top of the hill, opening up a deep well or light into the tunnel. Looking up, you see a pioneer company in once cream-colored, now dirty-colored, fatigue uniforms still digging away and terracing the sides of the big hole to prevent slides. Half an hour later we go slow again in crossing a new wooden bridge over the Meuse—only one track as yet. It took the German pioneers nearly a week to build the substitute for the old steel railway bridge, dynamited by the French, whose four spans lie buckled up in the river.

Further on a variety of interest is furnished by a squad of French prisoners being marched along the road. Then a spot of anthill-like activity where a German railway company is at work building a new branch line, hundreds of them having pickaxes and making the dirt fly. It looks like home—all except the inevitable officer (distinguished by revolver and fieldglass) shouting commands.

The intense activity of the Germans in rebuilding the torn-up railroads and pushing ahead new strategic lines is one of the most interesting features of a tour now in France. I was told that they had pushed the railroad road so far that they were able to ship men and ammunition almost up to the fortified trenches. The Germanization of the railroads here has been completed by the importation of station superintendents, station hands, track-walkers, etc., from the Fatherland.

Now we creep past a long hospital train, full this time, which has turned out on a siding to give us the right of way—perhaps thirty all-steel cars, each fitted with two tiers of berths, eight to a side, 16 to a car. Every berth is taken. One car is fitted up as an operating room, but fortunately no one is on the operating table as we crawl past. Another car is the private office of the surgeon in charge of the train. He is sitting at a big desk receiving reports from the orderlies. During the day we pass six of these splendidly-appointed new all-steel hospital trains, all full of wounded. Some of them are able to sit up in their bunks and take a mild interest in us. Once, by a queer coincidence, we simultaneously pass the wounded going one way and cheering fresh troops going the other.

UNEARTH A 60-FOOT LIZARD

Workmen on State Highway Find Unusual Petrified Specimen in Colorado.

Denver, Colo.—What is believed to be the remains of a prehistoric petrified lizard of the dinosaurian period has been unearthed here by workmen employed on the state highway between Frankfort and Elizabeth, in Douglas county. The giant specimen, which in life was fully sixty feet in length and was in type half animal and half reptile, is believed to be preserved in its entirety, according to word received by State Highway Commissioner T. J. Ehrhart.

The mammoth petrification rests on a formation of sandstone and is beneath a layer of rock containing streaks of onyx. This suggests aquatic life.

Swordfish Was Menace.

San Francisco.—Fishermen towed into port a formidable submarine which they captured 35 miles out of the Golden Gate. It was hovering in the offing, a menace to navigation and flying no national colors. The submarine is a swordfish, probably the largest of the few that have ever been captured in these waters. It measures, including its four-foot sword, a dozen feet. It weighs over four hundred and fifty pounds.

HOPELESS FOR ANY MAN TO ATTEMPT TO DESCRIBE THE WAR, SAYS COBB

It is Too Big to Be Reported in Words and the Writer Is Simply Overwhelmed by the Immensity of It—Most Appalling Scenes Not Those of the Battlefields, But of the Base Hospitals

—No Picturesqueness in the Struggle.

By IRVIN S. COBB,

Special War Correspondent of the Saturday Evening Post.

New York.—Irvin Cobb, war correspondent and humorist, has brought back with him from the battlefields of Belgium and northern France the chief impression that it is hopeless for any man to attempt to describe the war. The English language cannot do it, he says, nor any other language, and it is interesting to hear Cobb, who is one of the best reporters who ever covered a story, tell why this war cannot be written.

"We have used up all our adjectives on five-alarm fires, gang-murders, Slocum disasters, political conventions," Cobb said to a reporter of the New York Evening Post. "We haven't got anything left for such a war, and it seems pitifully inadequate to fall back on the stock phrases. It's too big to comprehend. You start out in the morning with the best intentions of grasping the facts of events and writing a bally story, and you come home in the evening dazed and brow-beaten. There never has been anything like it.

Here you get a Gettysburg for breakfast, a Chancellorsville for lunch, Waterloo for supper, and, to make a good measure, they throw in a Sedan around tea-time.

"It is simply impossible, for instance, to tell how a hundred thousand men died. You can't write it, and the people who read it couldn't realize the horror of it. They would be too staggered, too amazed by the proportions of the statement. What you can do, though, is to pick out the story of how one man died, and tell that, making him typical of the hundred thousand or the million or whatever the figures may be. As for casualties, I'm convinced they have been much greater than any of the combatants has admitted. I should not attempt to guess them, because it would be absurd to hazard a venture in figures so large. You could only approximate it by hundreds of thousands.

The Track of an Army.

"One thing that impressed me was the way in which you become habituated to the terrible side of war. The first time I saw Germans enter a captured town, I thrilled all over; the first time I saw a dead soldier I felt that I could write a whole story around that one fact. But after a little time I found that the most distressing scenes of ruin, death and desolation made very little concrete impression upon me. As a matter of fact, one dead man is a great deal more distressing than several hundred or a thousand, and the most appalling scenes I witnessed were not those on the battlefields, but in the base hospitals where poor chaps were dying out of sound of the guns.

"Anyhow, the worst thing about a battlefield isn't how it looks, but how it smells—the awful stench of unburied bodies, of stale gunpowder fumes, of human sweat, of rotting corn, of damp, ruined houses. That is the way it affected me: Yet it is remarkable how efficiently nature works to cover up the traces of war. Visit the same scene a few weeks later, and you'll find grass growing in the ruts made by the cannon, new foliage burgeoning on trees that were stripped bare, and most of the disagreeable traces of death removed. It takes very little time for nature to obliterate the track of an army.

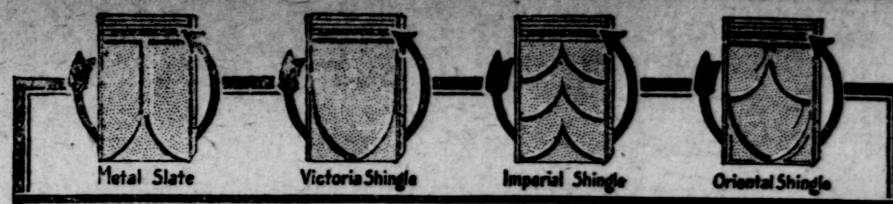

"Even so, however, I am convinced that the after-effects of this war will be incalculable. I should not care to try to estimate the time it will take the winner to recover from it; 50 years is a moderate guess and means comparatively little except in a suggestive sense. The loser, I am convinced, will scarcely ever recover from it. Belgium, it is true, is simply the wreck of a land today, but I am inclined to believe the Belgians will rehabilitate themselves a great deal faster than people think. Theirs is a fecund little country; their houses are all of stone, and even those burned as a general rule have walls and gable-ends still standing."

Mr. Cobb dismissed the question of atrocities.

Investigated Atrocity Stories.

"The party of newspaper correspondents I was with made a careful investigation of every atrocity story that reached us," he said. "They were almost invariably false, and in the few cases that were true, exaggeration was the rule. This applies to the stories told by the Belgians of the Germans and by the Germans of the Belgians and French. Of course, when you take any large body of men, whether in war or in peace, you will find among them a certain percentage of defectives and degenerates. We have atrocities in New York city, so far as that is concerned. I am convinced that there has been nothing unusually brutal about the conduct of this war—at least, in the way of atrocities. War, itself, is absolutely brutal. There is no picturesqueness about it.

"I have relegated the atrocity story to the limbo that contains the bayonet charge story. I saw several hundred

EARLY WAR NEWS

GERMAN RAID ON ENGLAND.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—For the first time in centuries England has been struck by a foreign foe. A squadron of swift German cruisers crept through the fog Tuesday night to the Eastern coast and turned their guns against the Britons.

When day broke they began the bombardment of three important towns—Harlepool, at the mouth of the Tees; Whitby, thirty-five miles southward, and Scarborough, noted as a pleasure resort, fifteen miles beyond. Harlepool suffered most. There two battle cruisers and an armored cruiser were engaged and at this place the greatest loss of life occurred. The British War Offices fixes the number of dead at Harlepool as seven soldiers and twenty-two civilians and the wounded as forty-four soldiers and fifty civilians.

At Scarborough, where a battle cruiser and an armored cruiser shelled the town, thirteen casualties are reported, while at Whitby two were killed and two wounded.

Men, women and children of the civilian population were left dead or wounded—struck without warning, while at breakfast or at work. In all, the casualty list totals 110, according to the official estimates, of whom thirty-one are known to be dead.

Three churches were damaged; the gas works and lumber yards at Hartlepool were set afire and the abbey at Whitby was struck. The Balmoral Hotel, at Scarborough, received the full effects of a shell. A number of houses and shops were shattered and partly burned in each of the towns.

The hostile squadron escaped in the mist after an encounter with coast guard vessels patrolling the neighborhood, which were reinforced as soon as the presence of the Germans was signaled.

GERMANS SAY SOME OF BRITISH DESTROYERS WERE SUNK.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—An Amsterdam dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company contains a German official statement which claims that some of the British destroyers, which attacked the German raiding squadron of the British coast, were sunk.

DISASTER TO GERMAN ARMORED CRUISER.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 18.—It is officially announced that the German armored cruiser Frederick Karl was sunk during a recent sortie in the Baltic. Two thirds of her crew are said to have perished, less than two hundred men having been saved.

EGYPT AND SUDAN ANNEXED.

The British press to-day naturally makes a feature of the annexation of Egypt and the Sudan, which takes from the Sultan of Turkey 14,000,000 subjects and 1,000,000 square miles of land. This action moreover robs the Turk of his last foothold in Africa, Italy having taken Tripoli from him a few years ago.

The German squadron which attacked the eastern coast of England, causing the death of about one hundred persons, is said in Berlin to have sunk two British destroyers and damaged badly a third. The British Admiralty states that two warships were struck by German shells and that five men were killed and 15 wounded, but makes no mention of the loss of any vessels.

Emperor William is said to have improved in health sufficiently to permit his return to the front next week.

The British South African forces are soon to undertake a campaign against the neighboring German possessions. Premier Botha considers that the rebellion in the Union of South Africa has been crushed definitely.

All England is still buzzing with talk about the German raid on the east coast, interest having been stimulated afresh by the latest accounts coming out of Hartlepool.

RED CROSS SEALS.

The sale of the Red Cross Christmas Seals in Paris is being conducted under the auspices of the Bourbon County Health and Welfare League, under the supervision of Mrs. J. T. Vansant, chairman of the committee. The entire proceeds will be used locally in the campaign being waged in this city and county by the Health and Welfare League against tuberculosis.

These little seals can be purchased at the Ardery Drug Co.'s, Geo. S. Varden & Son, Oberdorfer's, W. T. Brooks', the Paris Book Store, Shire & Fithian's and L. Frank & Co.'s store.

Help the cause. Put a Christmas seal on your letters and packages.

FOREST EXHIBITS

FOR CALIFORNIA.

Part of the government's exhibit for the Panama California exposition at San Diego leaves Washington this week. This portion has to do with the national forests of New Mexico, and will be shown in the New Mexico building, the exhibit having been prepared in co-operation with the State Board of Exposition Commissioners of that State. The material also shows specimens of the principal timber trees of New Mexico and their uses.

Other exposition material is to leave soon for San Francisco, where it will form a part of the Panama Pacific Exposition. Part of this is being prepared through co-operation between the forest service and the United States Civil Service Commission. The Commission passes on the qualifications of all candidates for positions in the forest service, testing the fitness of those who wish to become forest officers through outdoor examinations in riding, surveying, timber estimating and similar matters as well as by more conventional methods; its exhibit will illustrate the duties of these officers.

Co-operation also exists in the preparation of exhibit material, between the forest service and the bureau of education. This shows how forest subjects are used in the public schools, in connection with nature study, commercial geography, agriculture and the like. One of the exhibits is a display made by the normal school pupils of the District of Columbia, in which a number of those who are studying for teachers' positions entered a prize contest on tree study. Each of the contestants prepared a separate exhibit showing the life history and the products of individual trees, such as white pine, hickory, or sugar maple.

HOW MANY IS A BILLION?

(Kansas City Star.)

I wonder if we realize when we talk of a billion dollars what an enormous amount of money it is and who long it would take an expert counter of coins to manipulate them. You can scarcely follow the motions of his fingers as he shifts the coins from one pile to another and counts them. The treasury experts will count 4,000 silver dollars an hour and keep it up all day long, but that is their limit. Working eight hours a day, then an expert counter of coins will count 32,000 silver dollars in a day, but how long will it take him at the rate to count a million dollars? Thirty-one days.

But this is not the beginning of the measurements of great figures, for if this same man were to go no counting silver dollars at the same rate of speed for ten years he would find that he had counted only 100,000,000 of them, and that to count a billion of them would require 102 years of steady work at the rate of eight hours a day during every working day of every one of the 102 years.

VERY SEASONABLE ADVICE.

"The best way to thaw water pipes," said a Paris electrician, "is by electricity. In northern cities where extreme cold weather is of frequent occurrence, it has become a practice of electricians to thaw water pipes with a special transformer. A current of electricity is passed through the pipe from the street to the faucet and heats the pipe evenly from one end to the other and so gradually that there is no danger of bursting. The method has become very useful where pipes are frozen under ground, but, fortunately, freezes of this kind are rare." There have been some reports of frozen water pipes, but in heavy every case the pipe has frozen near the faucet and is easily thawed. The water company has had inspectors examining the fire hydrants and has found them all in good condition. In all of the hydrants where the water is turned off well below the surface of the ground there is little danger of freezing.

Backache is a heavy burden—Nervousness, dizziness, headache. Rheumatic pain; urinary illness; All wear one out.

Often effects of kidney weakness.

No use to cure the symptoms—Relief is but temporary if the cause remains.

If it's the kidneys cure the cause.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney ills.

Here is proof of their merit from this vicinity.

D. M. Farley, merchant, 474 Chair avenue, Lexington, Ky., says: "I had a dull, dragging pain in my back. The action of my kidneys was irregular, especially at night. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and before long they put a stop to all these troubles. My kidneys became normal and the pains and aches left. The endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills in January, 1912, still holds good. I can only repeat that they are a fine kidney medicine."

HIGH SCHOOL OPEN SESSION IS AN INTERESTING AFFAIR.

The debating classes of the High School held their first open session for the school year in the Auditorium of the Public School building, on Thursday night. A large crowd was present to enjoy the interesting program, which was one of the best presented for some time.

The subject for the debate was, Resolved, "That Athletics is the Best Subject in the School Curriculum for the Development of Moral Character." The affirmative of the subject was presented by Messrs. Albert Lavin and Raymond Connell for the Sophomores, and the negative by Messrs. Fred Merine and Thomas Burns, for the Juniors.

Each of the young men presented their arguments in a most able manner, which showed the effects of careful training, and reflects great credit upon their teacher, Miss Josie Alexander, the efficient and capable instructor of the Literary Department of the Paris High School. Such training is an important factor in the education of every boy and girl and can be developed in no other way save through the channels of the Literary Department of the school.

The judges of the debate were Prof. A. L. Boatright, Messrs. S. S. Ardery, Sr., and Finnell Galloway, who decided in favor of the affirmative.

The Christmas playlet, "The Vestal Virgins" was one of the most beautiful plays ever presented by the students. Miss Edith Brittain, the new Physical Culture teacher, had charge of the training of the young ladies, and much of the success of the play is due to her untiring efforts.

The preludes and interludes were played by the High School Orchestra, under the leadership of Miss Leora Wiard. Miss Wiard has been very painstaking in her efforts to effect this organization, and it is through her earnest efforts, that the school has this splendid orchestra.

DEATHS.

GUILFOYLE.

Daniel Leonard Guilfoyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Guilfoyle, of Mt. Sterling, died in that city, Monday, of tubercular pneumonia. He was well-known in Paris, where he had often been a guest of his cousin, Mrs. John McCarthy, and other relatives in the county.

Funeral services were held at the St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Wednesday morning, conducted by Rev. Father E. H. Roher and the body was interred in the Catholic cemetery.

—A message received in this city Saturday night from Madisonville, Ky., conveyed intelligence of the sudden death in that city of Mr. Rogers E. Clarke, of this city, who had been there on a visit for several weeks.

Mr. Clark, who is a son of Mrs. Newton Clark, of Paris, had for several years been connected with the A. D. Sisk Book Co., in Madisonville, and after leaving there returned to Paris, where he was for sometime engaged in the decorating business. Some time ago he returned to Madisonville and was engaged in business in Earlington, Ky., three miles from Madisonville.

Mr. Clark came home about nine o'clock Saturday evening apparently in his usual health. Shortly after reaching home he complained of feeling very tired and weary, and laid down on the bed to take a short rest. Mrs. Clark became alarmed because of her husband's silence and going to him found that he had expired. Death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Clark was the eldest son of the late Mr. Newton Clark and Mrs. Lizzie Griffith Clark, of Paris. A few years ago he was married to Miss Sadie Fugate, of Madisonville, and at the time of his death was visiting his wife, who had been called to Madisonville on account of illness in her family.

Mr. Clark is survived by his mother, his wife and two brothers, Mr. Noah Clark, of Paris, and Mr. Leslie Clark, of Madisonville. He was a member of the Christian church.

The burial will take place in the Madisonville cemetery after services by the pastor of the Madisonville Christian church.

DUNBAR.

—After an illness extending over several months, finally resulting in Bright's disease, Mr. Horace B. Dunbar, noted chef and hotel man, died Sunday afternoon at his apartments in the Bourbon House, this city, of which he had been for several years manager.

Mr. Dunbar had been in failing health for several months, but only recently had been compelled to take to his bed. His illness assuming a more acute form, his physicians summoned a noted Cincinnati specialist, who after a rigid examination, pronounced Mr. Dunbar's case hopeless.

Mr. Dunbar was one of the most noted hotel men in the country. He was a native of Massachusetts, and sixty years ago was known as one of the expert hotel chefs in America. He was brought to Cincinnati in the eighties by A. G. Corre, the proprietor of the Grand Hotel, and for several years was chef there. In 1895 he became general manager and later on principal owner of the Gibson House. About fifteen years ago Mr. Dunbar went to Seattle, Washington, and took charge of the Hotel Ranier, but after remaining about a year, gave up the charge and returned East. For some time after this he conducted a summer resort at Mobile, Alabama.

Last February, Mr. Dunbar came to Paris and took charge of the Windsor Hotel, restoring the half-century-old name of "The Bourbon House, and which he was managing up to the time of his illness.

Mr. Dunbar is survived by his wife and a married daughter, who resides in New Orleans.

The body was taken to Cincinnati on the 7:40 L. & N. train this morning, to the Cincinnati Crematory, where, after services by the Masonic Order of Cincinnati, it will be cremated. After the incineration, the ashes will be taken to Rockport, Ind., and deposited in a vault.

"Now," said the editor, "I didn't get mad when these came, because I knew that all I had to do was to ask several reliable gentlemen like you to come and help me out, and then I could settle all of them." When the subscriber saw how it was, he relented paid up and renewed for another year.

LADS WITH WANDERLUST RETURNED TO THEIR HOMES

Imbued with a desire to see something of the world, William and Lindsay Blevins, aged eighteen and fifteen years respectively, sons of Mr. George Blevins, of Bath county, left the old farm some days ago without acquainting anyone of their intentions.

The boys made the journey on foot, from their home to Paris, stopping at various points en route, and making their way by doing odd jobs. They were having a good time, until finally locating on a farm near this city.

Mr. Blevins was notified and came to Paris, where he took the boys in charge and after attending to their material wants and providing them with new clothes, proceeded home.

The boys were delighted with their journey through the country, and said they had a good time, but were glad to get back home again.

ON THE HOG AGAIN.

The Elks at their social session in the lodge rooms in the Bourbon
Bank and Trust Company's building tonight, will have another "roast pig" supper, at which succulent and palate-pleasing young roast pig will be the chief subject of discussion.
The Elks are certainly setting the pace, in the matter of social enjoyment and the way the members lower their antlers and go to buck-jumping when the announcement is made of another social session would make even a hermit sit up and take notice.

BORN WITH A SILVER TOOTH

Baby Had Filling in One of Her Teeth Identical With Nervous Mother's.

Detroit, Mich.—In the class with babies who are born with gold and silver "spoons" in their mouths is little Marjorie Arline Davis, the seventeen-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Davis. But in her case it's a silver filling in one of her teeth, according to her fond parents and the family dentist.

A few days ago Mrs. Davis noticed a dark spot on one of the little girl's lower teeth, and since the child had never been taken to a dentist the mother knew that the tooth had not been filled. But it resembled a silver filling so closely that Doctor Taylor was asked to look at the spot.

"It's as perfect a silver filling as anyone could put in," said Doctor Taylor. "I have heard of such things before, but I never before saw a tooth like this."

Doctor Taylor recalls that at one time he filled with silver the tooth in the same relative position in Mrs. Davis' mouth as the filled tooth in the baby's mouth, and afterward put a crown on it. And since Mrs. Davis is very nervous while in a dentist's chair both she and the dentist agree that these facts may account for the appearance of the filling in little Marjorie's tooth.

GOAT EATS SHEET METAL

Court Levies Fine Owner for Animal's Meals in Factory Yard.

La Crosse, Wis.—Each day for a week a quantity of sheet metal disappeared from the back yard of the H. C. Thomas factory. A watchman was unable to catch the thief and was discharged after working nights for a week. The sheet metal continued to disappear until one noon, when Mr. Thomas saw a goat enjoying a mid-day meal off one end of the pile of sheet metal. Mrs. Carl Gillmeister, the owner of the goat, was fined $1 and costs by Judge Cronon for permitting a goat to run at large. Afterward the fine was remitted, when she promised to keep "Billy" locked in the barn and carry tin cans to him instead of permitting him to forage for his meals.

FAMOUS OUTLAW HORSE SHOT

West's Greatest "Bucker," Only Once Conquered, Is Shot to End Sufferings.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Steamboat, known throughout the country as the champion bucking horse of the world, is dead. He was shot to end his sufferings from blood poisoning.

Scores of bronco busters in all sections of the West have essayed to ride the famous bucker without success. Dick Stanley, of Portland, Ore., who rode him during a world's championship contest in 1906, alone is said to have conquered the old outlaw. But the glory of his contest was somewhat dimmed by the fact that the field was heavy with mud.

Steamboat was seventeen years old and for many years had been a familiar figure at wild west celebrations.

BOY OF TWO IS A LINGUIST

Speaks Four Tongues as Result of Diversity of Languages About Him.

San Antonio, Tex.—Heinz Tiemann, Jr., the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Tiemann, is said by his fond parents to be developing great talent as a linguist. Although only at the age when many babies are just beginning to talk, this baby is said to speak well in four languages. His father always talks with him in German, his mother in English and Italian and Spanish friends of the family in their language.

SICK HEADACHE.

Sick headache is nearly always caused by disorders of the stomach. Correct them and the periodic attacks of sick headache will appear. Mrs. John Bishop of Roseville, O., writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with indigestion and had sick headache that lasted for two of three days at a time. I doctored and tried a number of remedies but nothing helped me until during one of those sick spells a friend advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. This medicine relieved me in a short time." For sale by all dealers.

LUKE MCLOUKE SAYS.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.) Some women nag and some women weep when they want anything from their husbands. And one method is as disgusting as the other.

A barrel of potatoes will do a poor family more good than ten barrels of sermons on Charity.

You may think that molasses in winter is slow. But just watch a woman in street car making room for another woman.

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who used to wipe her nose on her apron?

The old-fashioned man who used to use his money to feather his nest now has a son who uses his money to color his nose.

When a man's neighbors are better off than he is he knows that Opportunity made a mistake in the number of the house.

Every woman hopes some day to be able to wear a $50 hat; And every man knows that there ain't no such animal as a $50 hat.

NEWS OF MILLERSBURG

Bring your children in to see the toys at Jones Bros'. (18-2t)

—Miss Dorothy Peed, of the Birmingham Graded School, will arrive Thursday for the holidays.

—The M. M. I. and M. G. S. will close Wednesday for the Christmas holidays. The M. G. S. will reopen Monday, January 4, and the others Tuesday, the 5th.

—Come in and avoid the rush and have your presents put away until you want them. (18-2t)

JONES BROS.

—Miss Nannie Louise Best, who is studying in New York this winter was recently invited to play before the Kentucky Society there. Miss Best was received most enthusiastically and her artistic interpretation thoroughly appreciated.

—Messrs. Ingels and Shaw, of the "Mount Joy" picture theatre, will give a special benefit matinee Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of the Christmas charities. All the proceeds are to be used for that purpose. It is certainly commendable in these gentlemen, and they should be greeted with a full house at both entertainments. Don't forget the cause; let everybody come.

—We have a large line of cut glass and China to select from. (18-2t)

JONES BROS.

—Annual election of Amity Lodge will take place Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the Hallock Lodge room, I. O. O. F. All members urged to be present. At 6:30 p. m. the annual banquet will be held in the Masonic Temple. Every member of Amity Lodge is requested to be accompanied by a lady, as this banquet is especially prepared for members of the lodge and their ladies. No invitations will be extended to others than members. An interesting evening is promised.

—At a dinner given by Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Huffman, Saturday evening to about thirty of their young friends, the approaching weddings of Thomas Kennard Smith and Miss Gladys Armstrong Hurst and Mr. William Henry Cannon and Miss Nancy Mynehr Jones were announced. It was generally understood that the wedding of Mr. Smith and Miss Hurst would be announced on this occasion, but the other announcement came as a surprise to their many friends. The home was beautifully decorated. Cupids and hearts were in evidence in the dining room. A delightful menu was served, consisting of turkey, old country ham, oyster patties, light rolls, ices and cakes. After the supper little Miss Katherine Vaughn Judy, acting as Dan Cupid, entered the dining room, bearing a telegram from the "Gods of Matrimony," which was presented to Miss Nancy Jones. On opening the same a pair of hearts fell out of the telegram, reading: "Mr. Thomas Kennard Smith, Miss Gladys Armstrong Hurst, on January 6th, 1915." After congratulations, another telegram was presented to Miss Frances Burroughs, with more hearts and cupids, which read: "Mr. William Henry Cannon to Miss Nancy Mynehr Jones, early in the spring, 1915." The wedding cake was then cut and the following received the emblems: Ring, Miss Georgia McDaniel; the dime, Miss Mary Elizabeth Ingels; thimble, Miss Verona McKinney, and the darning needle to Miss Frances Burroughs.

Miss Hurst is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Minnie Hurst, her father, the late F. F. Hurst, who was at the time of his death Secretary and General Manager of the Hurst Home Insurance Company. She is a popular and talented young lady, with a large circle of friends throughout Kentucky.

Mr. Smith is a member of the class of 1913 of M. M. I., and since then has taken a special course in agriculture at the Kentucky State University at Lexington. He is a son of Mrs. Jeanette Smith. The wedding will take place on January 6th, and they will go at once to Texas where they will make their future home.

Miss Jones is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jones, of the neighborhood. She is bright and accomplished and is a favorite in society. Mr. Cannon is connected with the Bourbon Home Telephone Company, with headquarters at Paris, and is a promising young business man.

THEATRICAL.

At the Columbia Theatre.

—At the Columbia to-morrow afternoon and night will be shown Episode No. 2 of the great film story, "Zudora," the first episode having appeared last Wednesday. Marguerite Snow appears as "Zudora." James Cruz as "Hassim Ali," and Harry Benham as "John Storm."

These pictures are each complete in themselves, but each one so thrilling and exciting that the spectator is led from one to the other in the greatest expectation.

This is conceded to be the most wonderful and dramatic story ever written for the motion picture screen, and everyone who saw the first episode will be sure to want to see the succeeding ones.

—Miss Marian Lynch, formerly instructor in the Physical Culture department of the Paris Public Schools, has arrived from New York, to be the guest of Mrs. Thomas McDonald, for the holidays.

—A former Paris man, Mr. Eugene B. Rogers, who was for many years a well-known engineer on the Louisville & Nashville, with headquarters in Paris, has been elected Secretary of the City Pure Ice & Cold Storage Co., in St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Rogers has large holdings of stock in the company.

—Three more cases of typhoid fever have developed the past week on the Plum pike near North Midleton—a son of Green Walling, a son of A. J. Pence, who has had two cases in his family, and a Mr. Puckett. This makes seven or eight cases on that pike.

—An interesting meeting of Richard Hawes Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was held at their room in the court house, Saturday afternoon. Mrs. William Garrard Talbott, the president, presided. One of the most enjoyable features of the meeting was the recital by Miss Anne Talbott Ewalt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Ewalt, after the routine business had been disposed of.

—The News acknowledges receipt of several copies of The Raleigh Register, published at Beckley, West Virginia, containing a notice of the work of Mr. W. C. Potts, who is conducting a travel tour and automobile contest on that paper. Mr. Potts will be remembered as having conducted a contest for the Bourbon News in 1912. His many friends here will be glad to learn that he is making a success of his contest on the Register.

—About thirty guests were entertained at luncheon Sunday evening by Mr. Clarence Wasson, at his home on the Ruddles Mills pike, near Millersburg, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Ingels, the bride-elect. The home was beautifully decorated with red carnations. Good wishes for the bride-elect were expressed on the guests' place cards, which were collected on a friendship plate by Miss Leona Letton, and presented to Miss Ingels. Upon returning to the parlor the host announced to the guests that he had an important announcement to make, and when they were led on the high edge of expectation, he wished them "Merry Christmas" and "A Happy New Year."

THE BOXING BOUT AT THE PARIS GRAND.

The boxing exhibition to be given at the Paris Grand Opera House on next Monday night, December 28, promises to be one of the best attractions that has been given in Paris for some time.

The first bout will be the preliminary, a five-round contest between Albert Finney, the terror of Kid Stout's Cafe, and Joan Fitzgerald, the fastest thing in Paris. The other preliminary will be a five-round bout between Albert Johnson, the heavyweight champion of Paris, and "Works" Jones.

The main bout of ten rounds between "Bud" White, of Cincinnati, and Chester Myers, of New York, should be a scream. White will arrive in Paris Thursday, and will finish his training here.

Prices, 25c to $1.00. (22-2t)

LIQUOR REACHED THE SPOT

MORE ABOUT TWILIGHT SLEEP.

Error Made by Assistant Need Not Have Worried the Dispenser of Drugs.

Wallace Irwin is fond of telling a story about a Scotch sheep herder who reached into a western town which had recently gone for prohibition. He entered a drug store and, as was customary, made a signal on the soda counter. Now, the proprietor was out, so the assistant, a young lad, understanding the Indian sign, took a bottle from a shelf and helped the customer to half a gobbet of brown liquid. The Scotchman smacked his lips, paid his score and went his stolid way.

Shortly afterward the proprietor came back and said to his assistant: "Any business?"

"Scotchman came and tapped the you-know on the counter," replied the boy, "so I gave him some." He pointed to the bottle of brown liquid standing alone on the shelf.

"Great heavens, child," shrieked the proprietor, "that ain't whisky. That's sulphuric acid!"

Tableau.

For two weeks the druggist lived the life of a hunted man. He discharged his helper, made his will, contemplated suicide and spent real money advertising for the widow of the unfortunate customer whom his carelessness had sent to an agonizing death. Just as he was about to surrender to despair he was suddenly relieved by beholding the same Scotch sheep herder, healthy and matter-of-fact, shuffle into his drug store, step to the counter, beckon mysteriously, and whisper:

"Losh, laddie. Ye maun gie me a wee nippie. And mind ye pour it out o' the same bottle. It's a wee bit strong, but it puts heart in a mon!"

COLOR IN OPERATING ROOMS

Leading San Francisco Hospital Has Done Away With the All-White Idea So Long Popular.

St. Luke's hospital, San Francisco, has abolished the all-white operating room and its surgeons and nurses wear dark clothes instead of white. The reason for this is two-fold: First, the psychological effect upon patients, many of whom said they were frightened by the glare of the white room, and, second, the effect upon the surgeon. This is expressed by Dr. H. E. Sherman in the following words:

"The discomforts I have had in the present-day white operating rooms led me to suggest that we have dark floors and wainscots in these rooms, so that the operator who looks up from a wound shall not encounter a glare of light and find his eyes useless for a moment as he looks back into the wound. The color scheme, it seemed to me, should start from the red of the blood and of the tissues, and therefore I advised that green, the complementary color to red, should be chosen as the color of the floor and wainscot. The particular shade of green to be selected was that which was complementary to hemoglobin, and this was found to be spinach green."

The Crowd Habit.

An interesting article in the Daily News, London, speaks of our dependence upon life in crowds as follows:

"The thing begins in childhood; we are taught in crowds; brought up in a mental and physical crush. The educationalist still talks of the theory of individual instruction and pedagogues place it in their prospectuses, but it is only their joke. This collective school life not only stunts growth moral, intellectual, even physical, not only kills individuality under pretense of rubbing off the corners, but brands the children's brains with the conviction that life can be lived only in a crowd."

It is well for all teachers to instill the value of quiet study and time for "thinking out things," quite apart from other people, into the minds of their scholars. In this feverish age, as it is sometimes called, we all, teachers and pupils alike, need to believe in our own individual mental ability, uninfluenced by the crowd.

Where Safety Lay.

Even the war has its bright side. Two negro porters were discussing it as they waited for a train to pull into the station.

"Man," said the first, "dem German submarine is sholy gwine to sink de British navy. Yas, sir-ee, dey's sholy gwine to 'spode dem naval boats dat's waitin' out yonda."

"Sho!" said porter No. 2. "An' dat's gwine to happen den?"

"Why, dem German submarine'll come right on 'cross and 'spode de rest ob de naval boats ob de world. Dat's what'll happen den, Sambo!"

"Well, looky heah, Gawge. Ain't yo' an' me better declar' ouahselves a couple o' noot-nootralities?"

"Man," said Gawge, "yo' all kin be nootral if yo' wants to. Ah'm a German!"—New York Evening Sun.

Name for the Indian Children.

Small people catch on to much more from the talk of their elders than grownups generally suppose, says the Caldwell News. A little girl of four and one-half years one day last week was poring over her primer. It was a lesson about Indians. The mother explained the pictures to the little one, telling her some of the customs of the tribe, and ended by telling her the Indian children were called "papoosees." The next day the girl was heard to "read": "The Indians do not live in houses, and they call their children Bull Moose."

In the January Woman's Home Companion appears an article entitled "Is the Twilight Sleep Safe for Me?" The article is authoritative, having been read and approved by one of New York's well-known obstetrical specialists. Following is an extract:

"In the cases of the very young, the comparatively old, the debilitated, and those suffering from serious diseases, like kidney disease, this treatment is emphatically inadvisable. Doctor Gauss reports that, at Freiburg, only 70 per cent. of the applicants are accepted for the treatment. Of this 70 per cent., 80 per cent. of the cases respond satisfactorily, giving a result of 56 per cent. success. In the hospitals in this country now using the treatment the cases are so carefully selected that in only about one quarter of the confinements is the Twilight Sleep employed. Another reason, of course, for this small proportion is the fact that the patients entering the wards of a hospital often come in too far advanced in labor to permit of this relief.

"It may be true, of course, that as the details of the treatment are more scientifically known and more thoroughly mastered Twilight Sleep may be used in many more cases and in a greater variety of types. There may be other subtle details, like the controlling of noise and light, yet to be more fully adapted. The significant, supremely encouraging fact is the perfect working of the treatment in the cases where it is suitable.

"With this question of limited adaptability comes another proposition: In order to determine whether or not the Twilight Sleep will be of use in a particular case, a woman should always have the opinion of an expert. As a corollary to this preliminary judgment by an expert stands the fact that, when the treatment is administered, it should be given by a trained obstetrician. There will be charlatans who will take every possible advantage of this new path to fortune, and there will be the type of physician who, when the patient insists upon having the Twilight Sleep, will administer it with insufficient knowledge.

"Obstetrical experts are right when they maintain that it takes a great deal of time and experience to learn how scientifically to administer the Twilight Sleep. It entails a precise knowledge of the nature and results of the drugs, scopolamine and narcotics, and a nice observation of the symptoms of the mother-to-be."

Christmas money to the extent of several thousand dollars was left in Paris, Monday, by the L. & N. pay train, several days in advance of the regular time, in order that their employees might have the money before Christmas to "Do Your Shopping Early." The pay car usually reaches Paris about the 15th or 16th of each month, but in December it is generally arranged so that the pay of the employees can be given them two or three days in advance.

To the merchants of Paris this means a great deal, as the patronage of the railroad people and their families who make Paris their home is an item of considerable importance.

According to its annual custom the Louisville & Nashville railroad has placed on sale holiday excursion rates for all points in Kentucky and the South. These rates will hold good returning until and including January 6. Tickets will be sold at one and one-half fares, plus 25 cents. No tickets will be sold to points north of the Ohio River or west of the Mississippi River.

NOTICE.

Paris, Ky., December 5, 1914.

Notice to Physicians and Heads of Families:

The law requires that all contagious and infectious diseases be made known to the Board of Health as early as a diagnosis of the disease is made. The penalty for failure is $5 for each day thereafter not so reported. Will it not reasonably occur to the responsible party that almost irreparable results may follow negligence in this matter? Please be governed by the law.

GIVE A HOOISIER CABINET
For Christmas This Year

The Hoosier Saves Miles of Steps.

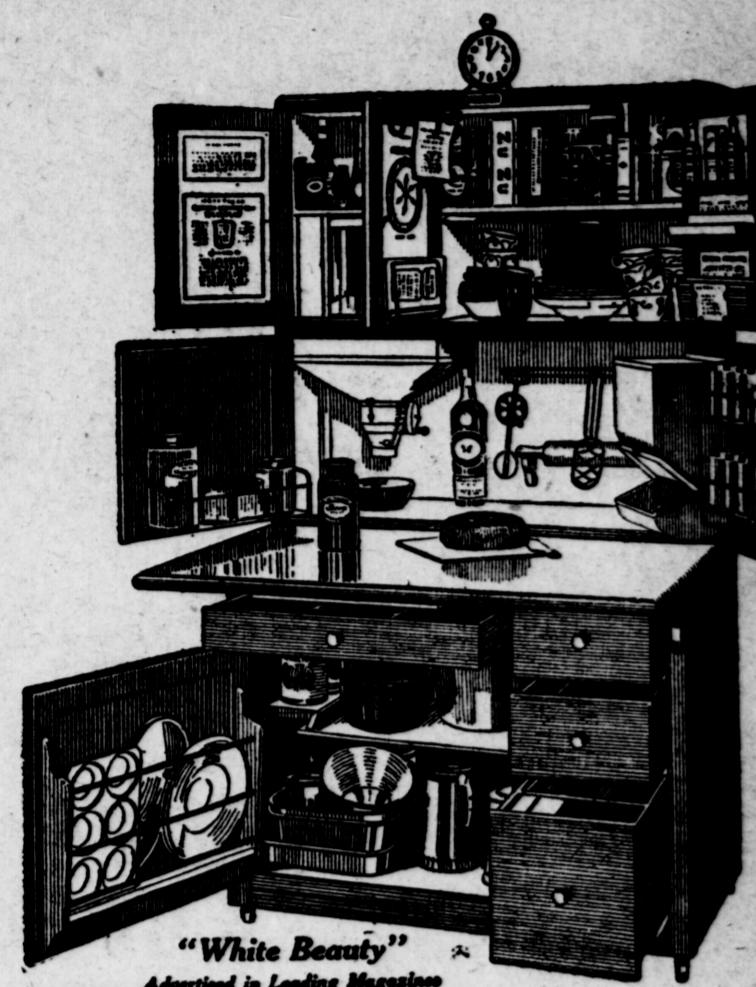

It will save steps in your home. It saves supplies; it saves waste; it saves time and energy.

Nothing you could put in your home will do so much for your wife or mother as this wonderful new Hoosier Cabinet.

40 Labor-Saving Features—12 Entirely New.

This Hoosier has all the practical conveniences that have been suggested by thousands of owners. Not a single practical suggestion for its improvement has been made since we have had it on the floor.

20,000 Hoosier Cabinets were given for Christmas last year. This year the demand will be greater, and our supply will undoubtedly be exhausted. Come early. Make your selection while our stock is complete. If your wife isn't delighted with your choice, we will refund your money.

PAY ONLY $1.00

Then, after that, a dollar a week until you have completed the small cash price fixed by the Hoosier Company. No extra fees, no interest.

Until you have examined the Hoosier Cabinet, you can't appreciate its beautiful finish, its rigid construction, and its wonderful convenience. But the mere fact that 700,000 people already have bought Hoosiers, and are delighted with them, is your safeguard. Any one of them had the privilege of receiving their money back if they were not pleased. Not one Hoosier owner has asked for her money.

Come in tomorrow and let us show you what the Hoosier will mean in your home before it is too late to get it for Christmas.

FOREST NOTES.

A great deal of the oak used on the Pacific coast comes from the eastern part of Asia.

To guard against tree repair fakers or quack tree surgeons, the Massachusetts Forestry Association will inspect the shade trees belonging to its members, free of charge.

The Sihlwald, or city forest of Zürich, Switzerland, adds to the town's revenues $7.20 per acre a year, reducing the amount needed to be raised through taxation by more than $32,000.

In Northern Idaho and Montana, which had many fires the past summer, 35 per cent. of the fires on National forests were caused by railroads, 26 per cent. by lightning, and 10 per cent. by campers. The remainder were due to brush burning and other miscellaneous or unknown causes.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)
A young man doesn't know it, but he will be a whole lot better off if he marries a healthy girl with her own shape and her own complexion and who can keep house and cook than he will be if he marries a girl who has nothing but her Pawpaw's bank account to recommend her.

The High Cost of Living wasn't such much when the waltz was considered a risqué dance and when the orchestra for a quadrille party consisted of a fiddle and a mouth organ and cost a dollar a night with a drink of cider thrown in.

about his weakness and claiming that he takes the stuff for Medicine.

DO YOUR BUYING EARLY AND AVOID BIG CROWDS.

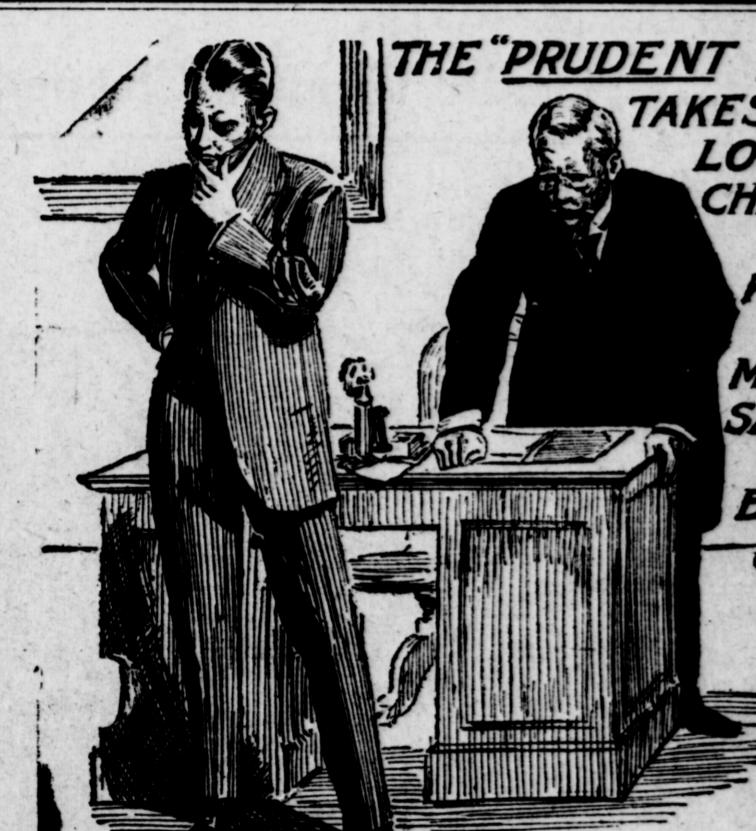

Remember the crowds that thronged the stores last Christ mas when you were buying your presents. Avoid these crowds now by doing your shopping early.

A mountain lion recently killed in the Grand Canyon game preserve, which adjoins the Tusayan national forest, measured ten feet from nose to tail. Mountain lions and other beasts, such as wolves, coyotes and wild cats, are killed by forest officers and game wardens because they are a menace to stock and to game animals.

GOOD APPLES.

Not cheap apples, but good apples. Winesaps and Albamare Pippins.

C. P. COOK & CO.

When making an investment it is absolutely FOOLISH for a man to send his money a long way off and trust it to somebody who has not good enough standing at home to sell his Get-rich-quick schemes THERE.

When he invests at home and WATCHES what he does a man often gets "plucked."

We will cheerfully give you our opinion on investments at any time. We may save you a loss.
